Mr. Osamu Tsukamoto
President, Japan Carbon Frontier Organization (JCOAL)

Dear Mr. Osamu Tsukamoto,

Let me express my gratitude for your kind letter and invitation for the „35th Clean Coal Day International Symposium 2026“ to be held on September 3rd, 2025 as well as „Energy Security with Decarbonization Symposium 2026“ on the following day, September 4th.

Energy security is very important long term goal of the Government of the Republic of Serbia. Serbia is country with substantial lignite resources, easily accessible for the exploration. Having in mind that coal presents its main source of energy, Serbia is determined to accelerate the transition to clean technologies and work toward decarbonisation thus minimising the pollution created by fire plants. Against growing discussions on energy security and decarbonization, 35th Clean Coal Day International Symposium will provide good platform for dialogue.

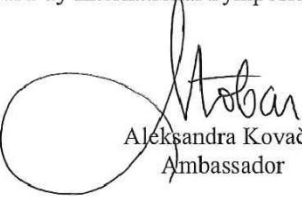

During these challenging times in the international community, including process of energy transition, we have to work and cooperate jointly. The Government of the Republic of Serbia is committed to expand the partnership with Japan in the energy sector and to use new technologies and knowledge to accelerate the transition to clean energy and reduce emissions. We highly value efforts of Japanese experts in the protection of the environment, climate change issues and energy security. With the continuation of the cooperation in this field Japanese vast knowledge and know how would be hopefully transferred to our country.

Having that in mind, we consider this Symposium as a valuable opportunity to exchange views and opinions about the coal industry, and its new technologies. It is my great pleasure to confirm our acceptance of support for this significant event.

I would kindly ask Executive Committee for Clean Coal Day for the continuing contribution as this initiative would further contribute to the overall scientific and friendly exchanges between our two countries.

Let me wish you every success with this year's Clean Coal Day International Symposium.

Yours Sincerely,

Aleksandra Kovač
Ambassador
